

2.5 Demographic Transition Model Guided Notes

The Demographic Transition Model explains the _____ from high _____ and _____ rates to _____ birth and death rates as a country develops from _____ to a _____ economic system.

Stage:	1 High Stationary	2 Early Expanding	3 Late Expanding	4 Low Stationary	5 Declining?
Population: describe & sketch pyramid
Examples	A few remote groups, no countries			United States	Germany
Birth Rate	High			Low	Very low
Death Rate		Falls rapidly
Reasons for change in BR			-Improved medical care and diet -fewer children needed
Reasons for change in DR
*Rate of Natural Increase				Stable or slow increase

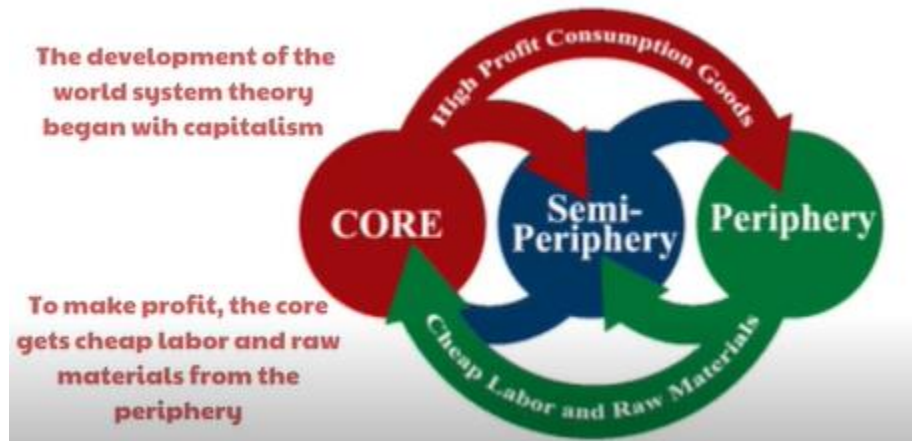

* Measure of how quickly a population is growing or declining.

- Calculated using birth and death rates
- does not factor in population change resulting from immigration or emigration

Equation for Rate of Natural Increase (RNI)

$$(\text{BirthRate}/1,000) - (\text{DeathRate}/1000) = (\text{BR}-\text{DR})/1000 = \text{RNI} \%$$

Wallerstein's World System Theory & DMT

What stage do the periphery and semi-periphery countries seem to be stalled in? Why?

What are the limitations of The Demographic Transition Model?

- Assumes _____ is distributed equally
- Does not take into account _____
- Ignores culture/cultural _____
- Assumes all countries will go through the same process

In reality...

- DTM is best used when analyzing economic growth of _____ countries
- _____ is key and peripheral countries do not follow traditional industrial growth/patterns

The epidemiologic model focuses on _____ _____ in each stage of the DTM.

Stage	Description	Example
1: High Stationary	The stage of pestilence and famine
2: Early Expanding	The stage of receding pandemics
3: Late Expanding	The stage of degenerative and man-made disease
4: Low Stationary	The stage of delayed degenerative diseases
5: Declining	Reemergence of infectious and parasitic diseases.

Demographic Transition Model

Directions: For each scenario, determine which stage of the DTM it is in and explain your reasoning.

Scenario	DTM Stage	Reason
Billy White loses his job as a gravedigger	2	The death rate has drastically declined
Parents start to practice family planning
Children are warmer in bed at night because they have more brothers and sisters
There are more golden (50th) wedding anniversaries
A mother sobs over the graves of her last 6 children that died in the typhoid epidemic
A lot more houses are being built
The Public Health Inspector smiles as the building of the city's sewer system is completed
Grandparents are very rare
